Consulting Actuary

Location: Dallas, TX

To Apply: Email Chuck Dean at deanco@retsourc.com We will set up a call and discuss the next steps.

Dean Actuaries is a small totally independent actuarial firm. We compete with the largest firms in quality of work but have much more reasonable billing rates. We never accept commissions or any arrangement that could compromise our independence. We are actuaries, not just a firm that has actuaries. We have carefully scrubbed from our firm internal politics, over-management and the soul-killing approach some larger actuarial firms have.

We have need for another consulting actuary and/or a very strong student. Client contact and ultimate ownership are possible depending on the candidate. We don't impose limits on what you might accomplish. We value creativity.

You don't need all of the skills and experience listed below but the position can be sculpted to your particular talents and interests to a significant extent.

- Actuarial exams (more is better and ASA or FSA designation is a big plus). Also, candidates having success in progressing through the Society of Actuaries exams will be considered.
- Programming language knowledge and experience is a plus. We are referring to languages such as Python, SQL and Java not just Microsoft Office (which is assumed).
- Experience with actuarial pension valuations, OPEB valuations and demographic experience studies.
- Asset and liability forecasting for pension plans and similar financial arrangements.
- Prior client contact is a plus but meeting with clients is an open possibility for actuaries who have been blocked from that experience in their current role.

Absolute requirements:

Honesty

Desire to do quality work

Desire to improve the product and services

Empathy with the clients

Clear communications

Positive vibe in the office.
